

Go to our free office fitout calculator

Measure twice, cut once the benefits of 3D Virtual Office Design

The old adage of 'measure twice, cut once' is even more applicable today. We realise it's not always easy for our clients to visualise how a new office design will look. Using the latest technology our in-house interior design experts will create the best working environment for your business and share their vision with you by creating a Virtual Office Design (VOD) 3D walk through.

The benefits of a VOD concept include:

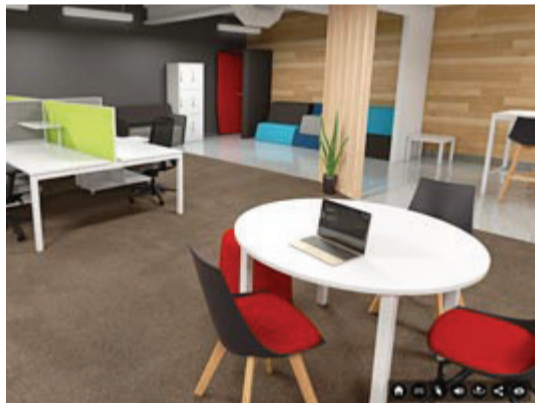

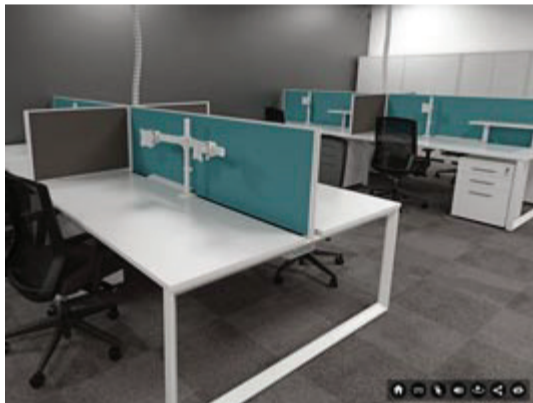

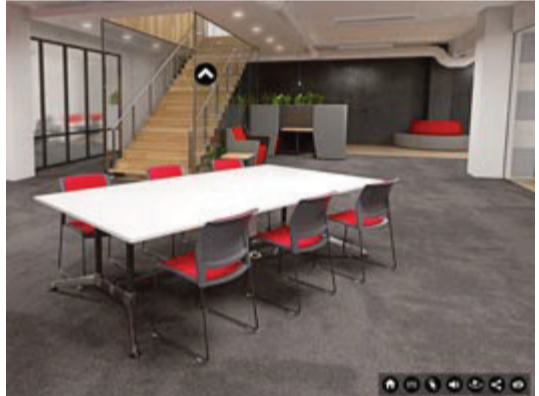

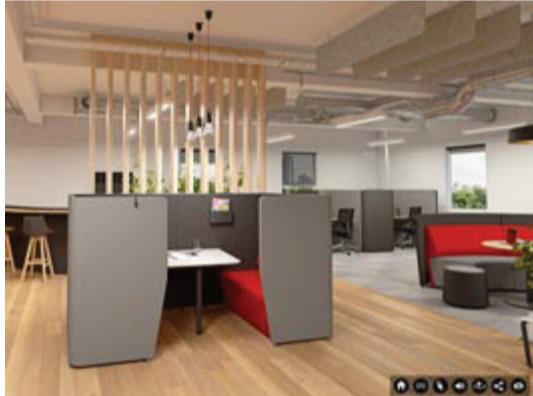

- Trouble shooting before construction starts helps avoid costly mistakes
- More effective communication reduces requests for additional information
- Engaging office staff with visual previews for smoother change management
- The capacity to visualise "what-if" scenarios for an existing workplace
- Getting the best use out of available office space

The ability to take a VOD tour of your fitout before construction commences has become vital for effective communication with our clients and suppliers.

To see an example of a VOD tour click here

Our new online office furniture showroom utilises the power of photorealistic 3D imaging

Check out our interactive virtual showroom

Step 10 in our ultimate guide to office fitout Getting Authority Approvals has been posted on our blog

Using a monochromatic design palette

Westside Strata Management Case Study

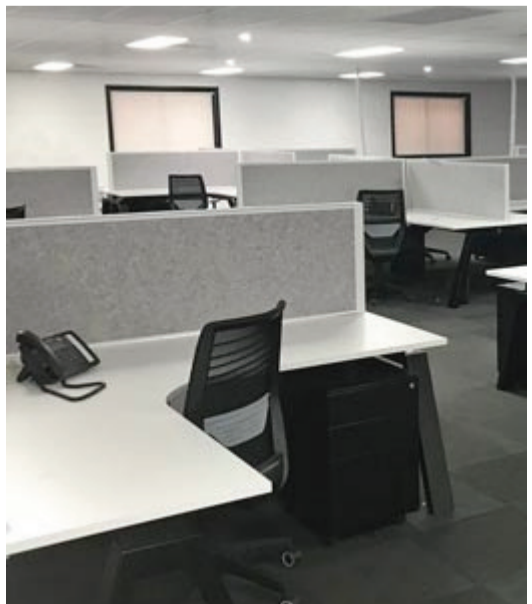

Client Profile

Westside Strata Management provide strata management services for residential, commercial and industrial premises in Sydney.

Scope of Works

Using a monochromatic colour palette create a unique office fitout that would improve productivity and encourage collaboration.

Design a bespoke storage solution for ongoing building management services.

Find out how we did it

