

AFTERCARE AND MAINTENANCE SERVICES

Apex Executive Interiors support policy is an essential part of our commitment to providing a holistic fitout service. We care deeply about our reputation and acknowledge the importance of our ongoing relationships with existing clients for our continual growth.

After the completion of your fitout rest assured we will be there to provide the ongoing support and services you need.

General maintenance and servicing

We can help set up maintenance agreements with suppliers and service agencies and advise on what these should entail. Regular maintenance is important because it will protect your warranties, help prolong the life of products and reduce the risk of substantial damage. For more information on office maintenance go to the maintenance section of our step by step fitout guide.

Emergency repairs - insurance claims

Equipment breaks and crises strike, often at the worst possible time. Perhaps your air-conditioning will stop working in the middle of a heatwave, or you will spring a leak and your workplace will start to flood. Apex Executive Interiors will ensure the appropriate trades are on site as soon as possible. We can also arrange condition reports and other documentation you may need for insurance claims. In the case of water damage, fixing things up quickly is crucial to prevent mould setting in, an added complication that's often not covered by insurers.

Workspace - office alterations

It's hard to predict how a business will evolve over time. Your workforce may expand or contract. Either way we can adjust your office layout and furniture to suit your business structure. And when it's time to give your office a refresh, whether it's just a change of wall colour or a totally new look, we will be there for you.

Maintaining your work space is an essential part of projecting the right image of your business. Having Apex Executive Interiors on board as a partner will give you peace of mind.
